THE PUBLIC LAW PROJECT

Benefit

'It is 30 years since I wrote the first proposal for a national public law resource centre. In that time, the PLP has adapted its shape and its work to meet new needs and accommodate new problems. Its survival and development are a tribute to the dedication of its staff and volunteers, as well as to the bodies that have believed in it and funded it.'

Sir Stephen Sedley

PLP's founder.

Since 1990, the Public Law Project has worked tirelessly to improve access to public law remedies for those people who cannot obtain justice due to poverty, discrimination or some other form of disadvantage. Its three main objectives are:

- To increase the accountability of public decision makers,
- To responsibly challenge the decisions of public bodies on behalf of those most affected by them,
- Improving access to justice.

'PLP has been in the vanguard of constructing the system of public law that now exists in Britain and opening the way for citizens and non-governmental organisations to use the administrative courts. Wrongs have been righted - and decision-making improved. Without PLP, justice in Britain would be much the poorer.'

Nick Hildyard

Corner House Research.

The evening commences with a champagne reception at 6.30pm, followed by an all-inclusive three-course dinner, with games, speakers and music throughout the event
